RECLAIMING POWER, NARRATIVE & DEMOCRACY
Resourcing and accompanying young activists in their work to reclaim institutions, sites and systems of political power.

OPEN NOW!
Inviting young activists under 30 years old across Asia and the Pacific

Girls and young feminist activists are at the forefront of resistance lines in all shades and magnitudes - countering authoritarianism, challenging discrimination, and leading some of the most powerful social justice movements. This is dedicated 2-year funding to build political power, counter authoritarianism and hold democratic institutions to account.

If you are involved in any of the following, submit your proposal by 10 May 2024 [HERE]!

- Political organising
- Popular education
- Direct action
- Experimentation with alternative self governing models
- Participating, guiding and leading in formal political systems
- Strategic litigation
- National or transnational political advocacy
- Base building
- Citizen journalism
- Labour organising
- Narrative change and political analysis

Funding is available for individuals or collectives under 30 years old, with priority for those under 21 years old. You may be registered or un-registered, forming or established, trade unionists or labour organisers, or a collective that’s part of broader youth organising. Consideration is also given to groups where 50% are under 30 years old.
